FROM CHIEF EDITOR'S DESK

Technical Education without fundamental concept is wastage of time and money. I would like to suggest my young technocrat they should be master in their field. Otherwise it is very difficult to survive in this cutthroat environment.

FROM EDITOR'S DESK

Life becomes successful as one practices what one has learned from experience. Students learn mostly from books as well as from their teachers. When such learning becomes a process in life, student undergoes a formation of character which leads to success in life. Please feel free to give your suggestions/comments at newsletterhce@gmail.com.
